WO Cut from the lows New Register the fol-lowing notice of the efficient and successful canvass made in the Fifth Congressional Dis-trict in lows by Mr. Kasson, late First Assa-tant Postmaster General. Brilliant Canavas.

The canvass made by Hon. J. A. Rasson in this district was peculiarly brilliant and successful. One great cause of our superfor ancess in this district is found in the fact that a thorough canvass was made in these Iwenty-three counties. The numerous joint discussions held between Messrs. Kasson and Finch, resulted in great good to our party. The Republicans were stirred up in all the counties, and an efficient organization held them compactly together. There was manimity in all the ranks. Added to this there were frequent conversions from Toylam. In this county a large number of life-long Democrate came out from their former political associations, shock the dust from their garments, and labored as pair-tots for the triumph of the Union ticket. This was the case to a greater extent in Fremont county, and other portions of the district were blessed largely with similar conversions. There was a general revival of the spirit of 70, and Toylam was made to suffer.

By reference to the Presidential vote of 1860, it will be seen that, in the counties now con-

Holly Springs, for a few days in possession of our cavalry, under Col. Lee, was evacuated several days since. The morroment was not the action of necessity, but of policy. The advance of a strong sebal force from their fortified position behind the Tallahatchie threatened the place, and our troops retired without any attempt at opposition.

To be more general and examine more closely into the propriety of such a movement, its advanbility will plainly appear. The location of Holty Springs, as expremely deficient. The place is not strong by nature, nor by position inviting as a strategic point. Its location is only that of a railroad station, or point of momentary delay. In water it has not a sufficient supply for a single regiment, much less to meet the wants of a large army. The only localities affording this requisite are at the Cold Waterceek, five miles this side of the town, or at the Tallahatchie, beyond. The place will mover be occupied by more than a garrison, to secure communication with the different posts along our line of retrest, and to demonstrate against a detour of the enemy to cut off supplies. In a greater prominence, I fear Holly Springs will never figure in the events of this rebellion.

I have closely observed the current of shairs since our advance upon this place, and have drawn some conclusions concerning the intentions and future movements of General Grant and his army. It is plainly his purpose to await the promised reinforcements, which are now rapidly reaching their destinations at different positions along our lines. He will also reorganize his corps, placing it upon a footing to meet all the contingencies of a vigorous and important campaign. I feel assured our next movement will meet with no other delay than that caused in conflict with the enemy, until the fulfilment of the expectations from this army are fully and completely worked out.
This determination is certainly most isudable and will meet the approbation of every one crediting the propriety of moving with the as surance of well matured designs. This is evidently the policy by which General Grant has regulated the operations of the present, and to which he will owe the success of his movements in the future.

which he will owe the success of his move-ments in the future.

The absence of a determined rule of actic a towards the negroes who have fugitively sought our lines has been attended with a large amount of suffering to that race. In many instances, they have been received and allured from their homes by promises of favorable treatment and employment as servants to officers. Hav-ing acceded to the requests of these individu-als, they have met none of the prospects pre-sented to them, and, in consequence, have be-come victims of the most serious bodily wants. General Grant, in a recent order, has taken a step towards the amelioration of the condition of these people in a way commendable, in a pecuniary view, as regards the Government, or physically, as concerns the negro.

PATRIOTIC.—San Francisco has contributed over $300,000 for the relief of sick and disabled soldiers! Here is a specimen of the subscriptions: Donahoe, Ralston & Co., $5,000; Co., $5,000;

An IMMERSE RIFLED GUN.—A rifled six hundred pounder gun is rapidly approaching completion at Elswick, England. Its weight, when finished, will be 29 tons, and its length 14 feet 10 inches. The outer diameter is to be 4 feet 4 inches at the Breech, and 1 foot 9 inches at the muzile. The bore of the gun will be rather more than 18 inches, and the greatest fickeness of metal at the breech about 19 inches; at the muzile 41 inches.
